

The Mathematics and Computer Studies Department of Molloy College is seeking one full-time faculty member for a tenure track appointment which starts September, 2018.

Molloy College is an independent institution recently recognized by Money Magazine as the "#1 Value All-Star". Located in suburban Rockville Centre, Long Island, Molloy is about 40 minutes from New York City. With approximately 4000 students, the College emphasizes small class size and personal attention.

Responsibilities:

Dedicated, effective teaching is the primary responsibility; the 12-credit per semester teaching load includes both introductory and advanced mathematics courses (day and evening classes). In addition, the successful candidate will provide academic advisement to students from the Childhood Mathematics Education, Adolescent Mathematics Education, and Mathematics programs. Other responsibilities include collaboration on departmental activities, a willingness to serve on college wide committees, as well as continued scholarly activity and professional development.

Requirements:

The position requires a Ph.D. in Mathematics or a Doctorate in Mathematics Education with at least a Master's degree in Mathematics. Consideration will be given to an advanced doctoral candidate. College teaching experience and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and scholarship required.

The culture of Molloy College emphasizes student centered teaching. Therefore, the candidate must be knowledgeable of the committed to using active student learning teaching approaches and be proficient in using technology for teaching mathematics.

To Apply

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and three letters of references, at least one of which should discuss the applicant's teaching to humanresources@molloy.edu or mail to:
